Debra Simon, founder and editor of Carolina Woman, has a world of experience and a local perspective.

Pleasure to Meet You

In a journalistic career spanning several decades, I've profiled dozens of personalities. But squeezing those years into a few paragraphs is a tricky bit of magic when the years are your own!

I started college when I was 15, and I immediately joined the student newspaper. When I was 18, I won a summer internship as a reporter for The Wall Street Journal. Three of my articles wound up on the front page! Reuters, the international wire service, hired me fresh out of college to cover the commodity futures exchanges in New York.

A few years later, I moved to Connecticut as an editor of the Hartford Courant, the largest newspaper between New York and Boston. Next, I accepted a position as assistant business editor of The Miami Herald.

In those years, my favorite motto was "Never Postpone Your Life for a Man." Then I met my husband, a native of the Triangle, and life took a detour — to Durham.

The News & Observer offered me a job. But I turned it down for two reasons.

First, my other motto, "Question Authority," always plunged me into hot water with corporate types. (My favorite performance review said, "She's without question the best editor with whom I've ever worked, but she's also a pain in the behind.")

Second, the members of my family have always been an entrepreneurial lot — going back to Sam Simon's horse-and-wagon moving company early last century. Now, I decided, was my turn.

Carolina Woman doesn't short rate. Carolina Woman can't guarantee the reproduction quality of photos, artwork or color ads. Carolina Woman provides basic typesetting and layout plus one proof for a nominal fee of $45. Carolina Woman uses fonts and borders requested by advertisers when possible, but can't guarantee their use.

Carolina Woman Inc. requires prepayment of first-time, one-time, out-of-area, transient and political ads. Bills are due upon receipt and are considered accurate unless written notification is received no later than fifteen (15) days following the date of the invoice. Finance charges of 1.5% a month (18% APR) are added to balances not paid within 25 days of the date of initial billing. The advertiser and its agency agree to pay all expenses including, but not limited to, court costs and reasonable attorney's fees incurred by Carolina Woman in the collection of any sum from advertiser or its agency resulting from any Advertising Agreement entered into between advertiser, its agency and Carolina Woman. Publisher reserves the right to revise rates at any time on at least 30 days' written notice. Any advertising tax imposed on the Publisher will be added to the rates shown. Advertising is accepted on a "run of magazine" basis only. No positions can be guaranteed or promised. The Publisher reserves the right to revise, edit or reject any or all copy. Advertising is accepted with the understanding that the merchandise or services offered are accurately described and willingly sold to customers at the advertised price. Deceptive or misleading advertising is never knowingly accepted. Publisher may act on the written or verbal instructions of advertiser or agency as to any advertisement. Publisher reserves the right to repeat the last standing ad or charge for space reserved if acceptable copy is not received by deadline. Proofs are furnished only for the correction of typographical errors, not deviation from original copy. If the advertiser changes original copy or layout, or adds additional or different copy or illustrations, there will be a charge for extra production work. Proofs will be provided to the advertiser only if copy is received in the magazine office prior to the materials deadline. Unless advertising copy is received in time to furnish a proof in accordance with the deadline schedule printed on this rate card, the Publisher shall not be responsible for typographical or other errors. The Advertiser agrees to indemnify and save harmless the Publisher against any and all loss, damage, cost and expense which the Publisher may incur or become liable for by reason of any and all claims or actions for libel, violation of right of privacy, plagiarism, copyright infringement, and any and all other claims in connection with advertising matter published, including without limitation the expense and cost of defending any and all such claims and actions. In the event of any error, regardless of origin or circumstances, the liability of the Publisher shall not exceed the cost of the advertisement in which the error or errors occur. The Publisher's obligation to adjust the charge for an error due to the fault of the magazine shall be limited to the cost of one incorrect insertion unless and until the Publisher receives written notification of the error prior to repetition of the insertion. Agencies and advertisers forwarding orders that contain incorrect rates or conditions are hereby advised that the advertising called for will be inserted and charged at the regular schedule of rates then in force and in accordance with the regulations in this rate card. Carolina Woman Inc. does not accept insertion orders from advertising agencies which bear disclaimer clauses to the effect that the agency is acting as an agent and may not be held financially responsible for payment of advertising ordered. Carolina Woman Inc. holds the advertiser and the agency placing the advertising jointly and severally financially liable, notwithstanding any disclaimer which might be included in the insertion order. The Publisher shall have no liability whatsoever in the event of any act of God, the public enemy or governmental authority, labor dispute, war (whether or not declared), civil disobedience, riot, or other occurrences beyond its control shall in any way restrict or prevent the distribution of the magazine.
